Dealer notes

The 2014 Honda CR-V EX-L AWD arrives with a documented service history, personal-use background, and a prior certified pre-owned status, which is exactly the layered provenance that makes buying a CR-V at this mileage feel less like a risk and more like a smart continuation of good ownership. The 2.4L i-VTEC engine paired with Honda's proven AWD system delivers the kind of dependable, unremarkable-in-the-best-way power that has made the CR-V one of the most trusted compact SUVs on the road for over two decades. White Diamond Pearl over a beige leather interior is a combination that still photographs beautifully, and the chrome grille with black bodyside cladding gives this CR-V a clean, timeless look that hasn't aged the way you'd expect. Slide into the beige leather-trimmed seats and the EX-L trim reveals why it remains one of Honda's best-loved configurations. The sliding glass sunroof with sunshade, heated power side mirrors with convex spotters, multi-zone automatic climate control, and a 7-speaker audio system create a cabin that feels genuinely upscale for its era, while Bluetooth HandsFreeLink keeps you connected without complication. The 60/40 folding rear seat with flip-forward cushions maximizes cargo flexibility in a way that still holds up against far newer competitors, and heated wiper park with defroster shows Honda's attention to real Midwest winter usability. Satellite radio, an auxiliary audio input, and audio theft deterrent round out a straightforward, reliable technology package that has never needed to be complicated to work well. Honda's reputation for building CR-Vs that comfortably clear 200,000 miles with proper care is well earned, and a prior-CPO, documented-service, personal-use example at this mileage is precisely the kind of low-risk purchase that experienced buyers recognize as smart. Come see it at Carlux in Waukegan and discover why the CR-V remains one of the most trusted names in Chicagoland driveways.
