Dealer notes

1949 Ford Custom-Built Ratrod Hot Rod This wild 1949 Ford custom-built rat rod is a true one-of-a-kind creation that blends classic Ford bones with raw, imaginative hot rod craftsmanship. Built on an original 1949 Ford chassis with a clean title, its powered by a massive Cadillac 500 cubic inch V8 engine, delivering big power and unmistakable personality. One of its most striking features is the right-hand-drive configuration an extremely rare touch that sets it apart from nearly any other rat rod on the road. Though it wears the rugged, weathered aesthetic true to the rat rod spirit, the build itself is surprisingly well executed, with a solid structure, proper stance, and dependably strong drivability. It starts easily, runs and drives as it should, and sits low to the ground for that unmistakable street-rod attitude. Packed with quirky details and handcrafted touches throughout, this car is an authentic head-turner and conversation piece everywhere it goes. Transportation assistance is available nationwide, and export arrangements can also be accommodated upon request. Price does not include $0 processing fee
