Dealer notes

This 1940 Ford Deluxe Tudor street rod is finished in turquoise with a gray cloth interior that complements the exterior nicely. The straight all-steel body wears a shiny, driver-quality paint finish with only a couple of imperfections, and the chrome and stainless trim sparkle beautifully. It rides on five-spoke alloy wheels with a slightly aggressive stance. Under the hood is a Chevy 350 V8 with finned aluminum valve covers, an Edelbrock carb and Performer intake, modern electronic ignition, and an aluminum radiator. It's paired with a TH350 automatic that shifts smoothly, and power-front disc and rear-drum brakes provide confident stopping. Underneath, the original frame has been upgraded with independent front suspension and manual rack-and-pinion steering for a better driving experience. Inside, the cabin has a split-back front bench seat, clean door panels, and charcoal carpet. Vintage Air keeps you cool, a Lecarra steering wheel and tilt column add convenience, and modern gauges and a Jensen stereo bring modern touches to the nostalgic look. Few cars draw a crowd like a '40 Ford, and this one backs up its looks with a reliable drivetrain and real creature comforts. It's ready to hit the road and turn heads wherever it goes.
