Dealer notes

1978 Chevrolet K10 4x4 Squarebody Here is a solid, honest 1978 Chevrolet K10 4x4 with approximately 100,000 miles and a 350 small-block V8. This is a good, straightforward Squarebody that gives you the hard part—“a desirable K10 4x4 platform with the right bones”—to start with and finish your way. The truck is equipped with a mild lift that gives it a better stance while still keeping the overall look and drivability practical. Under the hood is the familiar 350 small-block, making this a great foundation for someone looking for a classic Chevrolet 4x4 without paying the price of a fully restored or completely finished truck. The interior does need to be finished, and we want to be upfront about that. We have brought the truck to a stopping point and are offering it as a great opportunity for the next owner to take it from here and make it their own. Whether you want to build a clean driver, a weekend Squarebody, or simply finish off a solid K10 in your own style, this truck gives you a great starting point without having to undo someone else's expensive finished build. If you're looking for a project with a good foundation rather than a truck that has been dressed up to hide what it needs, this K10 is worth a look. A good bare-bones Squarebody that is ready for its next chapter. Call for questions and additional videos Price does not include $0 processing fee
