Dealer notes

Offered for sale is this 2024 Ford Bronco Raptor, finished in Oxford White over an Onyx black leather and suede interior with removable hard top, powered by a twin-turbocharged 3.0-liter V6 engine, running power to all four wheels through a ten-speed automatic transmission, with 5,876 miles on the odometer as of this writing. After selling an Eruption Green Bronco Raptor last month, we missed having it at the facility, and found another one to offer for sale. This one is newer, but features many of the same options that we find desirable, and a great color spec with the white with orange accents. With the Bronco's Raptor trim level, like with the F-150 that first came with that nomenclature, Ford made it trail ready right out of the box. Ford starts with the HOSS 4.0 suspension, utilizing FOX 3.1 internal bypass dampers which continuously adjust damping based on height and terrain sensors. The Raptor provides 13 inches of travel in the front (a 60% increase over the base model) and 14 inches in the rear (a 40% increase), fortified with a Dana 44 front axle and a Dana 50 rear axle. Between the suspension and the 416hp twin-turbo V6 motor, the Raptor is capable of unbelievably smooth, quick travel on rough terrain. This example is in excellent condition, and very well equipped. Options include Code Orange trim, heated steering wheel and ten speaker stereo, 17" beadlock capable wheels, carbon fiber trim, and leather/suede seat trim.
