Dealer notes

Maximize your business's delivery capabilities with this highly dependable 2013 Hino 338 Refrigerated Box Truck. Finished in a professional, clean white exterior, this medium-duty commercial workhorse is engineered to meet the demanding needs of cold-chain logistics, food service distribution, and temperature-sensitive transport. Renowned for its exceptional reliability and outstanding cost of ownership, this 2013 Hino 338 represents a premier choice for fleet managers and independent operators looking to upgrade their transport efficiency and ensure cargo integrity from departure to destination. Built on a heavy-duty chassis, this Class 7 refrigerated box truck delivers the robust performance and high-payload capability required for demanding daily routes. Powered by Hino's proven, fuel-efficient diesel engine, the 2013 Hino 338 provides the necessary torque and horsepower to navigate both congested urban streets and high-speed highways with ease. The integrated refrigerated box is designed for optimal thermal efficiency, ensuring your perishable goods remain at precise temperatures throughout the day. With its durable suspension and sturdy frame rails, this truck offers a stable, confident ride even when carrying maximum cargo weight, making it an indispensable asset for your business operations. Inside the cabin, the 2013 Hino 338 is designed with driver productivity and comfort in mind. The spacious, ergonomic interior features excellent forward visibility, user-friendly dash controls, and supportive seating to reduce driver fatigue during long shifts. Standard safety features and a tight turning radius ensure superior maneuverability in tight loading docks and busy city alleyways. Whether you are expanding your current delivery fleet or purchasing your first refrigerated unit, this white 2013 Hino 338 Refrigerated Box Truck stands ready to deliver consistent performance, low operational costs, and the ultimate peace of mind for your business.
