Dealer notes

Here is a beautiful 1953 Mercury Monterey Convertible finished in yellow, with a tan top and a yellow-and-black leather interior. It is riding on wide whites with Mercury wheel covers. This Monterey is a recent, documented frame-off restoration modeled after the car featured in the classic film "The Long, Long Trailer." The paint shows a couple of minor concerns and a pair of small dings on the hood, but carries good overall luster. Chrome and brightwork are beautiful and reflect brilliantly against the paint. The power convertible top will need a new drive screw, but it lowers and raises by hand. The top is new in beige and comes with a black parade boot. Under the hood is a 255 CID Flathead V8 paired with a 3-speed Merc-O-Matic, still running 6-volt positive ground - a setup that makes this car a pleasure to drive. The underside looks just as good as the rest of the car. Inside, the leather front bench with a 50/50 folding split and the fixed rear bench both look like new, as do the door panels and carpeting. Power windows are included, the dash is all original, and every gauge is in working order - it just needs a radio to be complete. On the road, this Mercury glides like a dream.
