Dealer notes

Offered for sale is this 2014 Range Rover Sport Autobiography, finished in Firenze Red Metallic over a red and black leather interior, powered by a supercharged 5.0-liter V8 engine, running power to all four wheels through a 8-speed automatic transmission, with about 156,000 miles on the odometer. For 2014, Range Rover introduced in second generation of the Sport model. Slotting right under the large Range Rover in the lineup, it was meant for fans of the brand that wanted a more agile, engaging on-road approach from their Land Rover product - tighter dimensions, more rakish profile, but still capable in any scenario and any weather. To improve upon the last version of the model, they switched from a full unibody construction instead of using a ladder frame, resulting in a near 500-pound weight reduction, along with a more aerodynamic shape to aid in speed and efficiency. Along with the upgrade from a six speed transmission to an 8-speed, the Sport became even quicker and more economical at the same time, and remains an ideal blend of size, pace and ability both on and offroad. This example was used extensively for long trips, and is in excellent cosmetic condition along with proper maintenance. The options on this example include the Autobiography package with two-tone leather, third row seating package, the Meridian sound system, and the 510 hp 5.0 liter supercharged V8 engine.
