Dealer notes

2025 Toyota Camry XSE The 2025 Toyota Camry XSE isn't just a sedan — it's a declaration. Toyota completely reinvented this generation, replacing the old V6 with a standard 2.5L 4-cylinder hybrid system producing a combined 225 horsepower that rockets this Camry to 60 mph in just 6.3 seconds. Every Camry is now hybrid by default, and the XSE makes that feel like an upgrade rather than a compromise — blending neck-snapping acceleration, razor-sharp throttle response, and an EPA-estimated 51 MPG combined into a package that makes every competing sedan look like it's standing still. Performance and efficiency no longer live on opposite ends of the spectrum. The XSE trim wraps the Camry's mechanical brilliance in an interior that commands attention. Sport mesh seats with bold two-tone contrast stitching, a flat-bottom sport steering wheel, and gloss black interior trim create a cabin with genuine attitude. An available panoramic moonroof floods the interior with natural light while the 12.3-inch touchscreen anchors a tech-forward dashboard that feels years ahead of anything near this price point. Front and rear heated seats, wireless charging, and a premium JBL audio system elevate every commute into something worth looking forward to. One owner. This Camry has been in trusted hands since day one. Toyota Safety Sense 3.0 represents the most advanced driver assistance package in the segment — pre-collision braking with pedestrian and cyclist detection, proactive driving assist, lane centering, and automatic high beams all working seamlessly in the background. A 12.3-inch digital gauge cluster, head-up display, and Bird's Eye View camera round out a technology suite that luxury sedans charge thousands extra for. Toyota's hybrid reliability is the gold standard of the industry, and this one-owner example is ready to prove it all over again. Fresh generation, clean ownership, elite technology — this Camry is the smartest sedan purchase on the market today.
