Dealer notes

If you are searching for a versatile vehicle that perfectly bridges the gap between a comfortable SUV and a rugged midsize pickup, this 2010 Ford Explorer Sport Trac 4WD 4dr XLT is an exceptional choice. Finished in a striking Sangria Red Metallic exterior paint, this unique Sport Utility Truck (SUT) commands attention on the road while offering a spacious, functional cabin styled in a sleek Dark Charcoal interior. It is the ideal vehicle for active buyers who demand passenger-friendly comfort alongside the open-bed utility of a traditional truck. Under the hood, this 2010 Ford Explorer Sport Trac is powered by a reliable 4.0L SOHC 12-valve V6 engine, engineered to provide dependable power and torque for your daily commutes and weekend hauling. Paired with a robust Four Wheel Drive (4WD) system, this powertrain delivers confident traction and capability across varying road conditions, whether you are navigating wet highways or heading off the beaten path. Its truck-based platform ensures you have the necessary durability and capability expected of a versatile utility vehicle. Inside, the spacious Dark Charcoal cabin offers comfortable seating and intuitive controls, ensuring a pleasant ride for all passengers. This model is practical down to the details, coming equipped with a front license plate bracket and the clean styling lines characteristic of the XLT trim. Blending SUV passenger comfort, genuine truck capability, and an eye-catching Sangria Red Metallic finish, this 2010 Ford Explorer Sport Trac 4WD is a standout performer that is ready for your next adventure.
