Dealer notes

Do you want to own the best variation of the "original" muscle car? Here is a 1967 Pontiac GTO Convertible with a 4 speed manual transmission and Factory AC. Currently dressed in Fathom Blue with black interior, this car had an extensive restoration in 2015. Life started in the Pontiac Michigan plant as a Cameo White, Automatic transmission car. Sold at Noble Pontiac-Cadillac in Marietta, GA on 9/15/67 according to the original Protect-o-plate, this car looks to have spent most of its life below the rust belt as it is impeccably clean underneath and in the typical soft spots including the trunk and door bottoms. The restoration included an engine out breakdown with all items repainted to match original factory colors, new manifold back exhaust system, new interior panels and dash, gasket replacements, rear main seal replacement, points/plugs/cap/rotor, lower control arm bushings, sway bar links, heater core, multiple switches and harnesses. All the little stuff is done and done right. The idea was to get in, turn the key, and drive off worry-free. Power top works as it should, Hurst wheels are a unique addition and look spectacular on the car. Please call to set up an appointment to check out this turnkey American muscle car and enjoy the remainder of the Summer and Fall car shows in your area!
