Dealer notes

Presented here is a rare 1973 GMC Sprint finished in a striking yellow paint with bold twin black stripes and a black vinyl top. It sits confidently on eye-catching 20-inch wheels, giving it a real stance and attitude. This truck is rust-free, solid inside and out. The paint is driver-quality, showing some clear-coat peel in certain spots, and a small scuff near the right rear wheel well from a garage brush, though nothing that detracts from its overall appeal. The bed is in good condition, with solid sheet metal and no rust-through, kept neat under a vinyl snap-on cover. The chrome and stainless trim show light aging yet still shine nicely, adding to its classic charm. Under the hood sits a small-block 383 CID Stroker V8, fitted with a Holley carburetor, an Edelbrock intake, tubular headers, and an HEI ignition. A 4-speed Muncie manual gearbox paired with a posi rear end sends power to the pavement with real authority. Underneath, the floors and frame rails remain solid. Inside, you'll find two comfortable black bucket seats, while the door panels, carpet, headliner, and crack-free dashboard are all in good shape. Aftermarket gauges track performance, and a JVC AM/FM cassette player is tucked away in the center console. This 1973 GMC Sprint is a rare, head-turning classic.
