Dealer notes

The 1985 Lamborghini Countach 5000S. Yes, this car is priced at 1/10 or probably less than what it would bring if it were a real unit. And it might actually be more dependable, lol. This is a very decent kit car. As with most built on a Fiero chassis, but even has a ton of the real aesthetics of a proper car. This would make an amazing influencer content car as well as a movie prop or backdrop in a showroom, restaurant, etc. It operates, runs, drives, and does everything that it's supposed to do. Upgraded stereo manual transmission, digital gauge system. It even has removable side windows that are in the car. When passing by, you have to look twice to even know that this is not the real deal. We actually have two of these cars, one of which we may just keep to produce some content for our YouTube channel, Davis Drives. A couple of good videos will make us more than the asking price alone. Feel free to check both of these cars out in person. They are in our showroom; we can FaceTime and/or send you updated videos and full details on each one. Probably some of the cheapest fun that could be had, and literally looking like you're riding around in a million bucks. Price does not include $0 processing fee
