Dealer notes

2010 New Idea 4855 Hay Baling Machine. This unit came from a farm/estate that we purchased and as far as we know it was operational and being used we have no clue as to how it operates. It appears to be a string model does have the driveshaft attachment to hook the PTO to tractor and from one of our more knowledgeable farm guys he says it appears to check out well and be operational. It does have some sort of a computerized Phoenix apparatus that is not hooked up. Not sure what that does or if it even goes to this unit but it is included as well as the operation manual is included as well. We would assume very little use as this customer usually only farmed a very small 20-30 acre area. Feel free to check this unit out anyway, you would like the AGCO serial number is 4855. 16769 if that helps. Down payment and layaway programs available to discuss.
