Moving beyond traditional wood-framed walls held together with staples and jigs, BRAWN features a precision-engineered, integrated construction that brings new strength and durability to the category. This advanced sidewall system is proudly built in the USA and sets a new standard for performance in introductory level travel trailers. BRAWN is more than just a structural upgrade. It represents a shift toward smarter, tougher construction that gives RVers confidence and peace of mind on every journey. By integrating this cutting-edge technology, Shasta redefines what buyers should expect in an introductory level trailer and reinforces its commitment to quality, consistency, and long-term value.
